How Do You Tell Your Story Effectively?

Know your story...

---

- What might you take into consideration as you prepare?
- How might you best communicate your plan?

What is Your Aim?

Crisp aims matter...

- What is your target population?
- What will you accomplish? By when?
- Do you have SMART aims (specific, measurable, aspirational, realistic, timed)?
- Are there tacit aims that you ought to make more explicit?

How Will You Build a Will for Change and Leverage Partnerships?

Commitment from relevant leaders and engagement of local stakeholders is crucial...

---

- Have you secured commitment to aims and ongoing involvement from key leaders?
- Are all key stakeholders – including patients and families – at the table? Is their role nominal or meaningful?
- How will you divide responsibilities and work together?

What is the Evidence Base for Your Idea?

Clear assessment of the evidence base (degree of confidence) for the proposed innovation is helpful...

---

- What is the pre-history of the work you propose?
- What is your degree of confidence in the innovation in question?
- What is the evidence in the peer-reviewed literature?

What is Your Intervention?

Effective application of new ideas requires thoughtful, robust design...

- Is the innovation or practice you seek to introduce or spread clearly beneficial?
- Is there local demand?
- Is it easy to introduce? Complex?
- How long will it take to start work and see progress?

What is Your Theory of Change?

It is important to make explicit hypotheses about how change will happen...

---

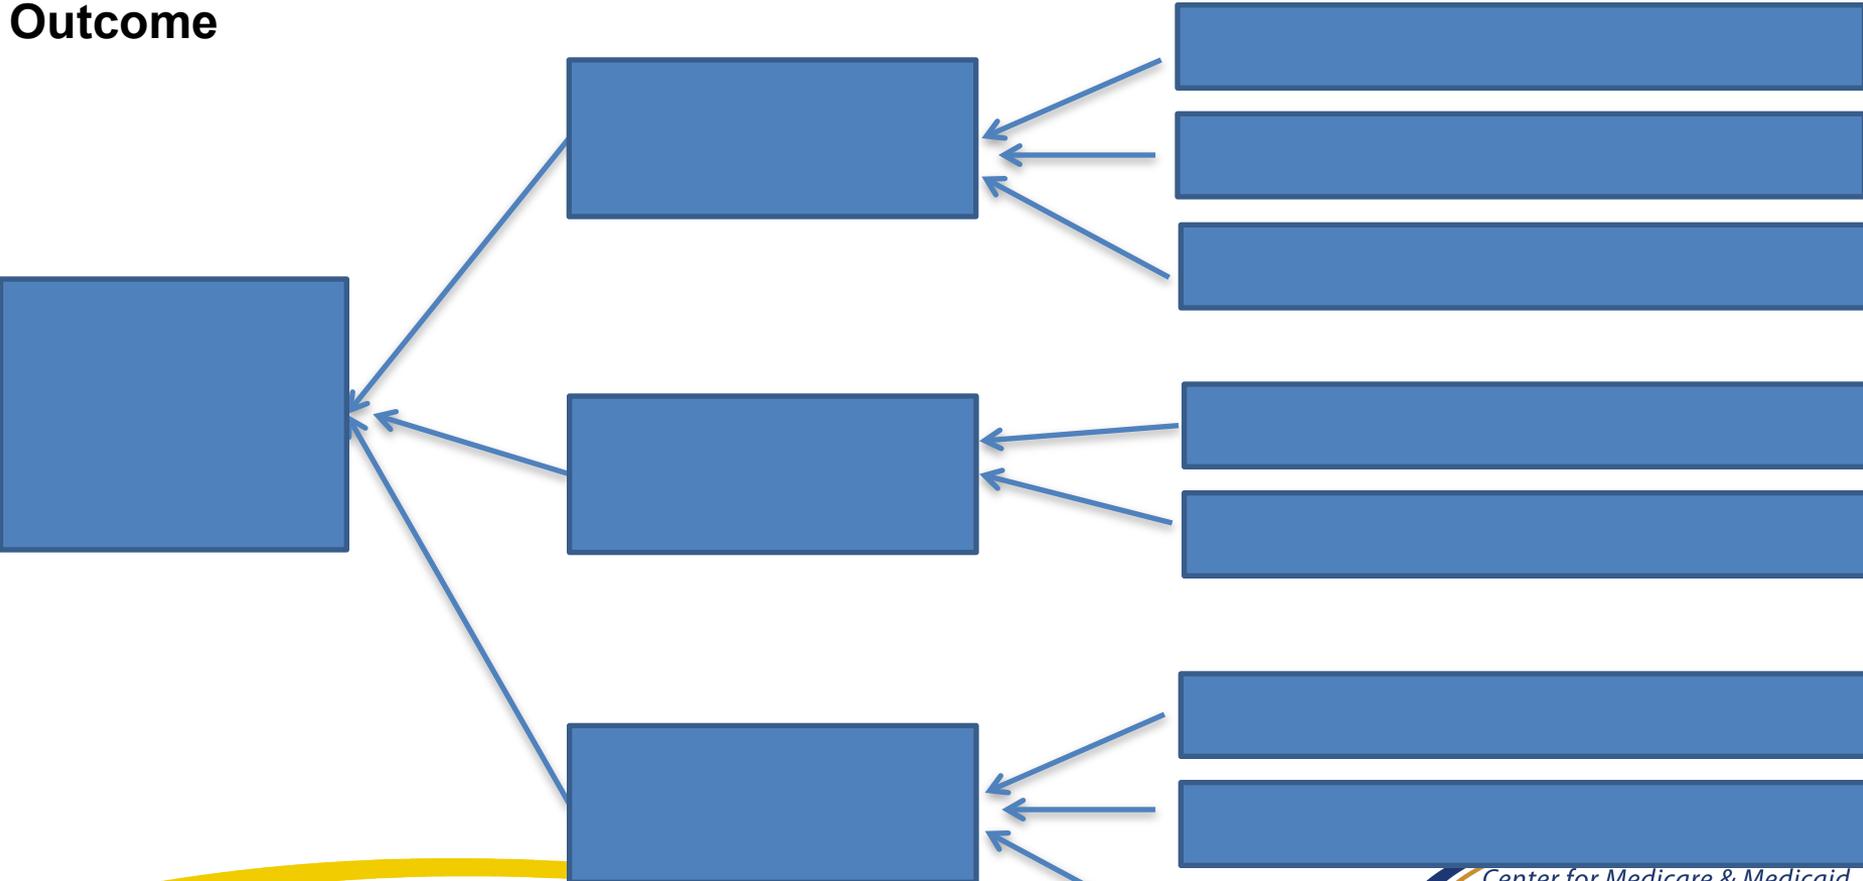

- What are your primary strategies for driving change?
- How much time, proportionally, will you invest in each?
- What specific tactics will you use to drive better practice?
- How will you configure and deploy your workforce to best achieve your aims?

A Driver Diagram

Aim and Outcome

Primary Drivers

Secondary Drivers

Center for Medicare & Medicaid

A Driver Diagram (Example)

What are the Unique Characteristics of Your Environment?

Local context will greatly influence the approach to improvement...

- How many organizations will take part?
- What is their geographic distribution?
- How are facilities connected? Formally?
Informally?
- Where has success already occurred?
- What are local attitudes toward the change in question?

What is Your Work Plan?

This planning is prelude to much more significant, sustained action...

- How will you rapidly achieve better care, better health, and lower costs through your work?
- How will you apply a rigorous work process, week in and week out, to achieve improvement?
- How will you collect data and measure progress, locally?
- How will you bring participating organizations together to more rapidly learn and apply new ideas?
